DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because the drawing are currently informal (i.e. handwritten letters/lines etc...). Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2 and 8 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being by Konuma, US 7,046,302.

In considering claims 1-2 and 8

Konuma discloses the reception of MPEG2 video signals where an MPEG2 video signal includes the parameters associated with the frames of the signal contained in the sequence header (Fig 11, see description relating to Fig), where MPEG2 also inherently includes the presentation time stamp (timing data, claim 7). Konuma discloses that the received signal can be of a variety of types and the MPEG signal includes the type of signal (i.e. 16:9 or 4:3 as well as additional parameters) which is included in the encoded signal which is then decoded and used by the receiver to scale/adjust the decoded signal for display. Konuma discloses a decoder 24, a microprocessor 5 (determines type of signal, i.e. 16:9, 4:3) along with a picture processing portion 7 (scaler) and picture memory 11.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3-5 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Konuma, US 7,046,302.

In considering claim 3,

Konuma discloses a picture memory 11. However, Konuma does not explicitly recite the use of a first/second buffer. Konuma discloses a system where the signals are stored (multiple) in picture memory 11. The use of multiple buffers/registers in a memory to store new/old or current/previous data is a conventional feature in system in order to provide quick access to data presently being utilized and the data which is upcoming, thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding the use of a 1st/2nd buffer in a memory for the advantages as noted above.

In considering claim 4,

Konuma as stated above discloses that the microprocessor and decoder both send information/signals to picture processing 7 (fig 1) including the frames/parameters of the frames.

In considering claim 5,

Konuma does not explicitly recite the concept of displaying frames after a vsync signal or sending the signal to the display at a time prior to the vsync signal, however this is conventional practice so the user may view one frame after another in succession, where one frame is displayed/started after the vsync of the previous frame, and thus would need the signal to be send to the controller prior to the vsync in order to display the images successively, thus the examiner takes "OFFICIAL NOTICE" regarding such limitations, since they are notoriously well known in the art.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 6-7 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure—see newly cited references on attached form PTO-892.

The Patent Electronic Business Center (EBC) allows USPTO customers to retrieve data, check the status of pending actions, and submit information and applications. The tools currently available in the Patent EBC are Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) and the Electronic Filing System (EFS).

PAIR (<http://pair.uspto.gov>) provides customers direct secure access to their own patent application status information, as well as to general patent information publicly available. EFS allows customers to electronically file patent application documents securely via the Internet. EFS is a system for submitting new utility patent applications and pre-grant publication submissions in electronic publication-ready form. EFS includes software to help customers prepare submissions in extensible Markup Language (XML) format and to assemble the various parts of the application as an electronic submission package. EFS also allows the submission of Computer Readable Format (CRF) sequence listings for pending biotechnology patent applications, which were filed in paper form.
